Charleroi Youth Killed in Car Crash

Two Others Injured on Route 31

James M. Anders, 17, of Charleroi, was killed and two companions injured in a one-car accident Saturday night at 11 p. m. on Route 31, about a mile west of Monongahela in Carroll Twp.

Injured were James Payton, Jr., 19, of 915 Shady Ave., Charleroi, driver of the car, and Gary Anderson, 18, of 913 Shady Ave., Charleroi.

Washington County Corner L. C. Gray said Anders was dead on arrival at Monongahela Memorial Hospital of a crushed chest, internal injuries and a broken neck.

According to police, Payton, home on leave from the Navy, reportedly lost control of the car on a curve and slammed into a stone embankment.

Others Injured

Reports said Payton had driven the group to a New Eagle restaurant and was on his way to a drive-in theatre when the crash occurred.

Payton suffered multiple injuries to the head, body and legs. Anderson suffered a possible fractured pelvis along with multiple lacerations and bruises about the head, body and legs. Both are reported in "fair" condition in Charleroi-Monessen Hospital.

The 1957 model car, owned by Payton's father, James Payton Sr., and valued at, $3,500 was demolished.

Anders, a 1957 graduate of Charleroi High School, is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Anders, of 915 Oakland Ave., Charleroi, and two sisters, Lorraine and Judith, at home.

The body was taken to the Slezak Funeral Home, Charleroi. Other arrangements are incomplete.

Teen Violence Erupts Again In New York

NEW YORK (UP) — A weekend outbreak of teen-age violence brought death to one New York City youth and critical injury to another, but three young actresses bested one juvenile hoodlum twice today.

Police said 18-year-old Richard Fields stabbed to death Ernest Smalls Jr., 16, in a sidewalk fight that resulted Saturday night when Smalls tried to collect for some pigeons he had sold Fields.

Almost at the same hour, a gang of youthful hoodlums armed with baseball bats attacked and beat two brothers, Jerry and Anthony Paoni. Jerry, 17, was hospitalized in critical condition. Anthony, 16, was treated and discharged. Six youths were arrested.

However, three pretty actresses early today outplayed a "very bad actor" who tried to hold them up in two separate incidents.

Police said Eugene Michael Jutkowski, 19, first tried to rob 27-year-old Emily Mothan as she was getting into a car. But when the would-be robber displayed his home-made "zip gun" Miss Mothan kicked him and screamed for help, causing the teen - ager to take to his heels.

Authorities said that two hours later Jutkowski accosted Mary Louise McWilliams, 25, and Lee De Kan, 26, in front of their home several blocks away.

Take Steps to Avert Strike in Glass Industry

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Federal mediator William Rose strove today to avert a threatened strike of 2,000 mould workers against 31 major glass container manufacturing firms.

Negotiations between the American Flint Glass Workers Union and representatives of the Glass Containers Institute, which represents the firms, broke down Sunday. Deadline for a walkout is Aug. 31.

Rose asked representatives of both sides to meet with him today in an effort to develop a peace formula. The union rejected the companies' "final" offer of a 3½ per cent pay raise now and an additional 2 per cent next year.

When the mould workers walked out last year the strike closed container plants throughout the country, idling another 50,000 workers.

Alhough the mould workers' contract does not expire until the end of the month, union representatives said they were committed to other negotiations sarting Tuesday and would be unable to meet further with the container firm negotiators after today.

Joseph Wattras To Quit Politics

Joseph F. Wattras, of Monessen, an employe of Westmoreland County for more than 20 years, has resigned as a clerk in the office of County Treasurer John W. Peck.

For 20 years, the local man had been a chief deputy in the office of the Recorder of Deeds.

He became a member of the clerical force in the treasurer's office in 1955 and held that position until last month. He had been drawing an annual salary of $3,940.

Formerly active in Monessen and county politics, Wattras said he will become inactive politically and return to his former trade as a patternmaker.

Ike Fights For Foreign Aid Funds

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower counterattacked today in an 11th hour effort to save the foreign aid program from what he considers crippling budget cuts.

He held an unnanounced breakfast conference with the speaker—and Democratic leader—of the House, Sam Rayburn, and appealed for his help in restoring the 30 per cent economy cut made by the House last week.

At the same time he sent a task force of four top administration officials to Capitol Hill to plead with the Senate Appropriations Committee to put back the 809 million dollars cut by the House.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles led the delegation of witnesses. They warned that U.S. prestige and security are threatened by a budget slash so large that it would change the basic nature of the foreign aid program.

Adm. Arthur W. Radford, retired chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, delivered the bluntest warning.

Cites Dire Alternative

The alternative to the size military aid program asked by the administration is for the United States to increase its own defense strength and draft more men so that "nearly every able-bodied young man of military age would spend several years of his life in military service overseas."

"The cost would be staggering," he added.

Or, he said, "we could adopt a 'fortress America' concept."

"In the world we live today, such a concept is entirely negative and would merely mean that we postponed an ultimate and violent showdown with international Communism or, in the long run, would capitulate," Radford said.

Dulles said the House cuts are so severe that they will make the free world wonder whether it can

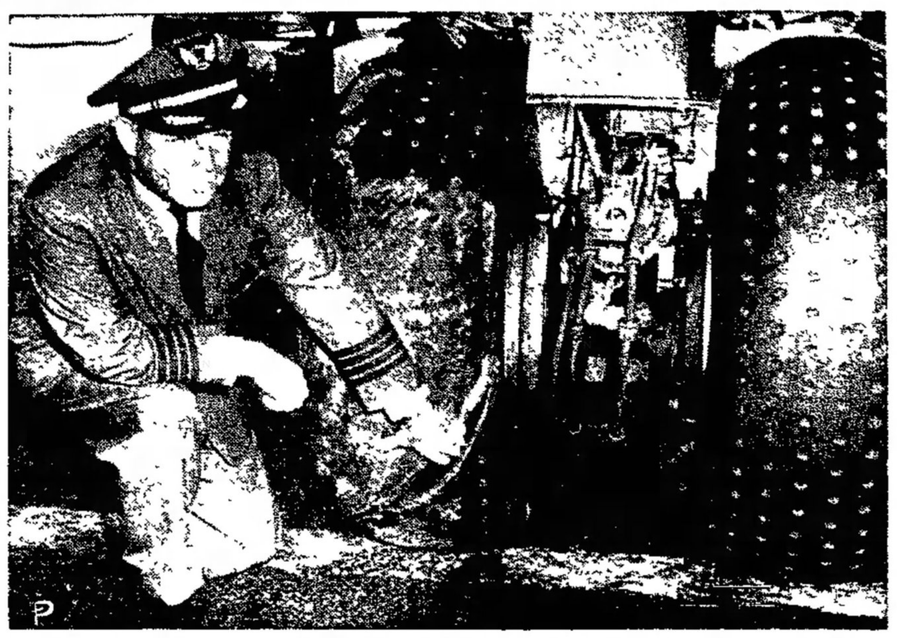
UN in Special Hungary Session Tuesday, Sept. 10

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—The United Nations General Assembly was summoned today to a special session on Hungary Sept. 10.

Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold sent to all 81 U.N. members a message announcing the session from Prince Wan Waithayakon of Thailand.

Under the leadership of the United States, a majority of U.N. members recently expressed themselves in favor of an assembly meeting to take up the report of the special committee on Hungary. This report condemned the Soviet Union for its intervention in last year's Hungarian uprising.

The special session will begin at 10:30 a.m. e.d.t. on Sept. 10. The regular session of the 12th General Assembly is scheduled to begin on Sept. 17.



ONE WHEEL AND A PRAYER—United Airlines pilot, Clyde Parlett inspects damaged tire of DC-7 which he landed safely and without incident with 61 persons aboard. The damage to landing gear was discovered when airport employees found a three-foot long section of tire and tube on the runway shortly after the plane had taken off for San Francisco from Idlewild Airport in New York. Parlett did not inform the passengers of the mishap until 20 minutes before landing at San Francisco.

House Democrats Hope to Get Civil Rights Vote Soon

WASHINGTON (UP) — Confident House Democrats planned to take steps today to get their modified civil rights bill onto the floor for a vote.

Their strategy was to pry the measure out of the House Rules Committee, whose chairman, Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va.), an all-out opponent of any rights legislation, has refused to call a meeting to clear the Senate-passed bill for House action.

The Democrats predicted that once the bill reaches the floor it will be approved with only one major change—a limitation in the jury trial provision to voting rights cases. They were confident the Senate would agree to the change and that President Eisenhower would sign the measure.

But House Republicans served notice they intended to wage a vigorous fight, probably on the floor, to try to strengthen the measure.

Unless Smith schedules a meeting of his committee today, Democratic committee members prepared to take their own move for calling it by serving written notice over at least three signatures to do so.

Smith then would have three days to decide whether to go along. At the end of that time a majority of the committee could call a meeting. He could stall action until next Monday by agreeing to schedule a meeting then.

Other congressional news:

Security: Chairman Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) of the House Committee on Unamerican Activities planned to offer broad new anti-subversive legislation. The measure would impose fines up to $10,000 and prison sentences up to 10 years for Communist Party membership. The measure, designed to offset recent Supreme Court decisions also would protect the sanctity of FBI files and levy penalties on witnesses refusing to testify before congressional committees.

College: Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-N J.) said he would introduce

Air Officer Takes Off in Balloon Flight

BRAINERD, Minn. (UP) — A large but frail balloon soared into the sky today, destined to carry an Air Force doctor some 19 miles into space.

The balloon is expected to reach a maximum altitude of 102,000 feet, and remain there for a brief stretch of time.

The balloon puffed up and billowed into the sky at 9:30 a.m. CDT (10:30 a.m. E.D.T.).

After reaching the record altitude for a manned balloone flight, the sphere will taper off to a level of 100,000 feet and remain there for about 24 hours.

Inside a tiny capsule swaying beneath the bulky balloon, Maj. David G. Simons had been sealed a few hours earlier. Simons, chief of the space biology branch of the aero - medical field laboratory at Holloman Air Development Center Almogordo, N.M., will be aloft approximately 32 hours. During that time, he will perform tests and conduct various observations relative to studies of man's adaptability to space travel.

The flight was delayed an hour when a long sleeve-like apparatus encasing the balloon became snarled. Workers freed it, and the flight was under way.

The flight is expected to carry Simons from near Brainerd, in northern Minnesota, westward about 500 miles near Miles City, Mont.

Rain and Cloudy Weather Due For the State

By UNITED PRESS

The Pennsylvania weather map looks gloomy for the next two days, with rain in much of the state and cloudy weather in other areas.

A high pressure area prevails over eastern New England. A low prissure area extends from western New York down south as far as Georgia, with the general low pressure system moving northward.

As the low pressure moves to the northeast, it has brought rain and cloudiness up as far north as Washington, D.C. This condition is expected to continue.

As it moves into Pennsylvania, rain and extreme cloudiness will prevail in the eastern portions of the state. Brief showers are predicted for areas just west of the Appalachians.

The western portions of the state can expect mostly cloudy weather with moderate temperatures in the high 70's or low 80's.

Pro-Red Coup Is Discussed by Western Bloc

By UNITED PRESS

A Communist-backed coup that placed Syria under iron control of a pro-Soviet military clique touched off urgent Anglo-American consultations today in London and roused fears in neighboring Israel of a Soviet-backed invasion.

United Press Diplomatic Correspondent K. C. Thaler reported in London that diplomats considered that the Red move in Syria had given Russia a firm toe hold on given Russia a firm toe hold on the Mediterranean in the severest challenge yet to the Eisenhower Doctrine.

The West regarded the Syrian development as the worst setback for Western Mideast policy since Egypt seized the Suez Canal a year ago. There were indications other NATO powers might be called in to confer on the threat to allied strategy involving NATO partner Turkey and the members of the Baghdad Pact.

Eliav Simon, United Press correspondent in Israel, said in a Jerusalem dispatch there were fears a new Middle East explosion was in the making, backed by Soviet money, tanks, guns, planes and ships.

Syria Against Israel

The Jerusalem dispatch said Syria always has been strongly anti - Israel and that the new military rulers can be relied upon to seize the earliest opportunity to try and revenge their defeat in the Palestine war.

It was noted that Gen. Afif Bizri, the new pro-Communist Syrian leader, was one of the Syrian heroes of that war. Now he would be assured of Soviet support in event of hostilities — although the Eisenhower Doctrine provides U.S. support against Communist aggression.

Israel political circles said they were uncertain Russia would risk a world war by pushing Syria into attacking Israel with the possibility of American intervention. But they said Syria may take the risk and use its vast arms supply for an attack alone.

London dispatches said two long-term courses appeared open to the West — to strengthen the Eisenhower Doctrine and to reinforce the anti - Communist Baghdad Pact. In the meantime Britain was reported urging the United States not to break off diplomatic relations with Syria despite Syrian charges the U.S. plotted to overthrow the government.

Reports filtering through heavy Syrian censorship said a major purge was being carried out of neutral or pro-Western military officers and that the military clique would soon launch a drive against its political opponents, the weakened Populist Party.

There also were reports that

Warns of Flu Upswing for Most of State

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa., (UP) State Health Secretary Berwyn F. Mattison today reported no major cases of Asiatic flu in Pennsylvania, but warned an upswing in influenza will probably occur in the fall and winter months.

Dr Mattison told the opening session of the sixth annual Health Conference that steps have been taken to keep his agency informed of the occurrence of any such outbreaks, and tests will be undertaken immediately.

Mattison pointed out that a new vaccine is already available in limited quantities commercially and will be used first for the protection of groups in a community necessary to carry on its fital functions and provide care for others in case of a major epidemic, such as policemen, firemen, and doctors and nurses.

On the polio front, Mattison said about 85 per cent of Pennsylvanians under 20 years of age has benefitted by the Salk vaccine. He reported that only 23 cases of polio had been reported throughout the state as of last week, less than half the number reported on the same date in 1956.

Mattison listed heart disease as the leading cause of death in the Commonwealth, causing 47,800 deaths last year. He also said tuberculosis, responsible for 1,100 deaths last year, is still a major health hazard even though the mortality rate is at a new low.

The conference is sponsored by the Health Department, The Pennsylvania Health Council, the Pennsylvania Public Health Association, and the Pennsylvania Midical Society.

Lake Ontario Tunnel Claims Fourth Victim

OSWEGO, N.Y. (UP)—A rescue party entered a 6,250 foot tunnel under Lake Ontario early today in an effort to recover the bodies of three men killed by an explosion. A fourth man died in an ill-fated rescue attempt Sunday night.

Some 20 other rescuers were overcome by fumes after the blast Sunday and Oswego Hospital said 13 of them were detained for observation.

Operations were suspended late Sunday night, police said, so that fresh tanks of oxygen could be brought in to help clear out the tunnel.

The tunnel is part of a 2-million dollar water intake system for Oswego. A team of five men had entered the tunnel about 1:30 p.m. e.d.t. Sunday to make final preparations to set off explosives which would allow water to come in.

The workers were placing booster charges of dynamite beside other explosives when one of the charges apparently went off prematurely, a project engineer said.

Three men 5,000 feet inside the tunnel were killed. They were identified as Lynwood P. Heiston of Elkton, Va., Philip Aylor of Harrisonburg, Va., and Arthur La Goe of Oswego. The other two — Horace A. Nunn of Newark, N.Y., and Joseph Ruckie — escaped with minor injuries. They were closer to the mouth of the tunnel.

Rescuers found the three bodies eight hours after the explosion, but were unable to remove them. Rescue worker Lloyd Matteson, 30, was overcome by fumes and pronounced dead at the hospital.

Negro's New Home Attracts Large Crowd

LEVITTOWN, Pa. (UP)- Some 125 protesting residents early today congregated in the area where a Negro family has purchased a house in this previously all-white community.

State and local police, however, allowed no one to mill around the home of William Myers Jr., who is waiting for some repair work to be done on the house before he moves in with his wife and two children.

Throughout Sunday and early today thousands of sightseers drove through the area. Nightly mass meetings have been held to decide what steps could be taken to prevent the Myers family from moving in. Bucks County Sheriff C. Leroy Murray attended Saturday's meeting and forbade any future such demonstrations.

Local clergy Sunday urged residents to accept the Myers family and any other family moving into the area, regardless of race or religion. Ministers preached tolerance and restraint to their congregations.

Myers, who is staying in York, Pa., with his father, said he will move into the house regardless of the protests.

"I bought the house so my family could have a nice place to live and all this shouting won't prevent it," he said.

Workers coming off the night shift at nearby plants joined today's crowd. No feelings of hatred or hostility was apparent as they chatted and joked only two blocks from the Myers house.

Beck's Assistant on Stand Today

Hoffa to Appear Tomorrow

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate Rackets Committee summoned teamster boss Dave Beck's number one assistant to the witness stand today to explain how thugs and hoodlums were imported into Teamster unions. They also scheduled a mystery witness.

Committee Counsel John F. Kennedy scheduled the Beck aide, Teamster Vice President Einar Mohn, as a witness when the committee resumed its hearings.

Kennedy said at least one other witness — "an important one" — would testify today. He refused to name him.

Today's hearings were designed to set the stage for the real showdown of the current hearings—the appearance Tuesday of James R. (Jimmy) Hoffa, another Teamster vice president considered heir apparent to Beck's job as president of the nation's biggest union. Beck has announced he will not seek re-election.

Hoffa has said he will answer all the committee's questions. He may be summoned back for another session next month before his union's presidential election in late September.

'Most Serious'

Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-N.Y.), committee vice chairman, said Sunday night the labor racket situation in New York—target of the current hearings—is "the most serious in the nation."

He said Hoffa's plan to set up a nationwide transportation union would "completely paralyze the country" in case of a strike and Hoffa and his associates "have demonstrated that they are too irresponsible to be heading any such organization."

Ives, in an interview with Rep. Kenneth B. Keating (R-N.Y.) over New York state TV stations, said he wondered "if we aren't going to have some kind of legislation to put labor organizations under the anti-trust laws."

Any such legislation, he said, should be of a "fair nature where labor is concerned."

TO FIGHT HOFFA — Thomas L. Hickey, New York Teamsters Union leader, tells the Senate committee on labor and management racketeering, that he intends to oppose James R. Hoffa for the presidency of the nation's largest union. Hickey charged in Washington that Hoffa was a friend of racketeer Johnny Dio and blamed him for setting up fake Teamsters Union locals in New York.

Holdup Man Is Nabbed by His Victim's Taxicab

CAMDEN, N.J. (UP)- A holdup man who bungled was run down by his victim's taxicab today.

Police reported that a man identified as Raymond E. Yheaulon (cq), 34, of 113 Maple Ave., Westville, N.J., hailed a taxicab driven by George Manosis, 31, of 3100 block Frankford Ave., Philadelphia, and asked to be driven from Philadelphia to New Jersey.

At a point on Route 70 in nearby Delaware Twp, Yheaulon threatened Manosis with a gun, took $18, and then changed places with the driver. Yheaulon had trouble starting the cab and Manosis jumped out and began to run.

Yheaulon, in turn, jumped out and ran in the opposite direction. Manosis returned to his cab, pursued Yhealon and ran him down.

Yheaulon is ni Cooper Hospital here under police guard. He is charged with armed robbery.

Funds

count on the United States as a dependable friend.

Outgoing aid administrator John B. Hollister said the cuts made by the House in the development loan fund "would make it impossible to carry out the forward looking policy adopted by Congress in establishing the fund."

Cuts May Stay

Despite Dulles' pleas, the Senate was expected to restore little if any, of the House cut. Republican leaders, however, planned to make a fight for at least some increases.

Dulles said the threatened reductions in military aid were so great as to "make it impossible to supply our allies with the military equipment needed to maintain the effectiveness and morale of their fighting forces."

And the slashes in so-called "defense support" indirect military aid may make it impossible for some dependent allies to be able to defend themselves.

Dulles also said the harsh treatment given by the House to the President's new development loan fund for economic aid "is so severe as to jeopardize the basic concept that underlies the fund."

Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland said Sunday night he will urge the Senate to raise the aid total to about three billion dollars "This is a little more than half way between the $2,524,760,000 voted by the House and the $3,367,000,000 originally authorized by Congress and approved by President Eisenhower.

More than 60,000 persons watched Terry's white bullet-styled No. 6 streak to victory down Derby Downs Hill.

The Hoosier boy's triumph followed an earlier major disappointment when his homemade racer lost a wheel in the second of the three-car dashes.

Undaunted, young Townsend replaced it and went on to win the title anyway—his fourth try for it. His prizes included a full college scholarship and an all-expenses paid tour of Europe.

David Hakman, 15, Los Angeles, came in second and Andy Vasco, 5, St. Catharines, Ont., was third. David and Andy won $4,000 and $3,000 college scholarships respectively.

The record time for the finals, however, was chalked up by Ron Sutherland, 12, Vancouver, Wash., and Richard Adams, Shamokin, Pa. Both ran a dead heat. Adams won the run-off in 28.19 seconds.

A car driven by Ken Fairman, 14, Indiana, Pa., went out of control after passing the finish line in the 48th heat and struck a television cameraman from Indianapolis, Ind.

Joseph Leidwig, 27, Station WISH-TV, suffered a severe cut on his left leg in the mishap and was taken to City Hospital.

Nine Pennsylvania boys were eliminated in the first round races, two lost in the second, and one made it to the third round before he was beaten.

He said the funds would be provided on a matching basis, with the states putting up one-half to two-thirds and the federal government the rest over a five-year period.

Knowland: Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland promised to fight for Senate approval of President Eisenhower's open skies aerial disarmament inspection plan if the Russians agree to the plan. But he said he saw no indication that any disarmament agreement would be reached with the Soviets at the London disarmament conference.

Syria

Kurdish tribesmen loyal to the ousted regime were preparing a revolt against the leftist leaders who are backed by Soviet guns, planes and tanks. One report reached Amman, Jordan, that Damascus was ringed with tanks and troop carriers and that military camps had been set up near the border of pro-Western Lebanan.

There were reports of arrests, "retirements" and dismissals of leading Syrian army officers. Reliable sources said the police were in the firm grip of the army and that police would move soon against the Populist Party.

The Populists are the largest single group in parliament and with the conservative wing of the Nationalist have nearly 50 per cent of the total votes. But their organization has been disorganized and spiritless and the pro-Soviet factions have dominated.

In the background was the mysterious Syrian army intelligence chief, Col. Abdel Hamid Serraj, a man who holds influence far beyond his normal rank. He has been called the strong man who led the leftists rise to power and masterminded the downfall of Nizameddine.

Nizameddine himself was reported under house arrest.

The crisis began last week with Syrian announcement of an American led plot to overthrow the government. This followed a long series of border incidents with Israel which Israel said was planned to divert moderate military leaders from the brewing coup in Damascus.

Reports circulated—without confirmation—that Soviet Communist Party Leader Nikita Khrushchev and possibly Defense Minister Marshal Georgi Zhukov might fly to Syria and Egypt to try to consolidate the Soviet's growing foothold.

Detroit Without Daily Papers

DETROIT (UP) — Detroit's newspaper strike was deadlocked today as none of the city's three large dailies published in the face of a mailers strike against one of them.

The vice president of the striking International Mailers Union Local 40, Raymond Brown, said today he tried to arrange negotiations with the Detroit Newspaper Publishers Association but was "refused".

SAVED AS BLIMP GOES DOWN—Like a dying whale, a U. S. Navy blimp settles into the Atlantic Ocean off Elizabeth City, N. C., after the pilot, Lt. Cmdr. R. D. Dempsey of Burlington, N. J., lost control of the craft in a severe thunderstorm. Dempsey and the other eight crewmen were picked up from life rafts by a fishing boat.

Boy Needs Lobby

CHICAGO (UP)- Progress in solving the problems of juvenile delinquency is slow and spotty because there's no lobby for young people, a Philadelphia penologist said here.

E. Preston Sharp said Sunday there is a lot of "know how" in the delinquency field but not much money to make it work.

Yet there are signs of change, said Sharp, president of the American Correctional Association, which is meeting here through Thursday.

"About 50 new juvenile detention homes have been built in the last year or so and police departments are improving," he said.

But Sharp, who's director of Philadelphia Youth Study Center, a detention and counseling institution, emphasized progress is slow.

"If you want to say we're making 60 miles an hour in road building, then I'd say we're going about 5 miles an hour, maybe, in dealing with this problem of our most valuable resource — youth," Sharp said.

"The mental health effort's moving faster, about 10 miles an hour, and picking up speed," he said.

Sharp said current delinquency is caused by a combination of mid-20th century living and traditional adolescent problems.

Americans are increasingly on the move, he said, and that "breaks up the pattern of neighbors knowing neighbors." In an unstable world few things are certain for juveniles except the prospect of military service, he said.

Love and care are needed most, Sharp said.

"If every delinquent in Philadelphia thought tomorrow that someone, just one person, cared about him, delinquency would be cut in half."

State Purple Heart Group Elects Officers

HARRISBURG, (UP) — Frederick A. Kline, Mechanicsburg, today took over his new duties as commander of the Military Order of the Purple Heart of Pennsylvania.

Kline, formerly senior vice commander, was unopposed for the post at the order's three day annual convention which closed here Sunday. He succeeds William P. Hayes, Scranton.

Other officers elected without opposition were:

Robert Schumack, Hazleton, senior vice commander; Charles Showalter, Lancaster, financial officer; Adrian McGee, Beaver Falls, deputy inspector; Ernest Slaughter, Harrisburg, segeant-at-arms, and James Spence, judge advocate.

Plenty of Nothing

IRVINGTON, N.J. (UP)—Crime doesn't pay — at least not for thieves who broke into a local dairy. They dragged a 500-pound safe down several flights of a fire escape, loaded it into an automobile, drove five miles away, then smashed it open. The loot? 35 cents.

The sermon was delivered by the Rev. David Zrno, O.F.M., of Sharon. He spoke on the significance of the occasion in Croatian.

At 6 p. m., over 350 persons attended a banquet at Croatian Hall on Schoonmaker Ave. to formally launch the building campaign. The invocation was offered by the Rev. Joseph Gajdosik, of Holy Name Church, Monessen.

Speakers included Councilman John Kotch, Jr., who represented the City of Monessen; The Rev. Ferdinand Skoko, O.F.M., superior of the Croatian Franciscan Fathers, Chicago, Ill.; the Very Rev. Henry Hanse, of St. Sebastian Church, Belle Vernon; the Right Rev. Msgr. Joseph Kushner, of St. Dominic Church, Donora, and Msgr. Stipanovich.

Dinner was prepared and served by the Croatian Ladies Guild.

At the banquet, Father Benkovic expressed his appreciation to the congregation and guests for their cooperation. He also praised Mrs. Stephanie Smoke, a committeewoman, for her part in planning the ceremonies.

Weather Halts Atomic Test Over Nevada

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev., (UP) — Adverse weather conditions early today prevented the Atomic Energy Commission from getting back on schedule with the triggering of a small-sized nuclear device.

Scientists were forced to postpone for 24 hours detonation of a device, dubbed Doppler, because of strong winds and a rain storm at the Nevada Proving Grounds. The test was rescheduled for 5:30 a.m. Tuesday.

It was to be the second nuclear explosion in two days. The AEC Sunday finally fired its oft-postponed Shasta device. The test had been postponed a record number of 19 times because of unfavorable weather and technical problems.

The AEC had hoped to get back on its summer test schedule by detonating Doppler from a balloon 1,500 feet over the desert. It was to be the 13th blast in the series.

Sunday's shot sent a vivid orange then purplish cloud mushrooming 30,000 feet in the predawn sky. The AEC said only "light fallout" resulted from the blast triggered atop a 500-foot steel tower. The shot released a power equal to 10,000 tons of TNT.

Field Fires Active in Washington County

Three weekend field fires destroyed a garage and burned over several acres in Washington County over the weekend.

A field fire on a farm owned by Blaine Duvall, on Coal Center R. D. 1, near Lover, destroyed a garage and burned over several acres Saturday before being brought under control.

Members of the California Fire Department, who answered the alarm at 2:35 p. m., fought the stubborn fire for three hours before bringing it under control.

Shortly after arriving at the scene, firemen had the fire contained in a hollow but a sudden shift in the wind sent the flames roaring back toward the Duvall home and outbuildings.

The frame garage was burned to the ground. The contents of the garage were not known to firemen.

A nearby barn, containing newly-baled hay and valuable farm machinery, was saved.

Firemen used two booster tanks to fight the fire and were required once to refill the boosters.

California firemen answered two field fire calls within 30 minutes Sunday night, both in Granville Hollow.

The first, at 10:55 p. m., was near the farm of Clyde Robison and was brought under control quickly. The second call came at 11:25 p. m. near the farm of Charles Tinley and firemen were still at the scene at midnight.

Steel Probe Still On the Surface

THE FIRST week of the Senate Anti-monopoly subcommittee's inquiry into the economics of the steel industry did not seem to us to get very far beneath the surface of this important subject.

The jousting between the witnesses of U. S. Steel, headed by Chairman Roger Blough, and Senator Kefauver, chairman of the subcommittee, was interesting enough at times, but chiefly, so we thought, for the insight which it provided into the personalities involved. Mr. Blough seemed to us to be mainly concerned to make propaganda for the status quo in the industry, while Senator Kefauver, to no one's surprise, was preoccupied with the political possibilities of the situation.

The result has been that neither the subcommittee nor the public has learned very much so far about the elemental forces which are at work in this tremendously important industry. The public has a picture, to be sure, of Mr. Blough as a competent and articulate businessman; and it has seen a re-run of the picture of Senator Kefauver as the suave interrogator. But the public has not yet been given much information about the trend towards concentration of power in the steel industry. And this, as we understand, is the real business of the investigation.

* * *

MR. BLOUGH and his eloquent staff of public relations experts maintain, of course, that there is no trend towards concentration. They say, for instance, that prices are identical from company to company largely by happenstance, and that prices don't have anything to do with competition anyway.

The U. S. Steel people have insisted, moreover, that rising prices are an effect, not a cause, of inflation, that the price of steel is virtually insignificant in its effect on the total economy, that U. S. Steel has been producing less of the nation's total steel output and that this proves there is more, not less, competition. And so on.

Without accusing these gentlemen of not believing their own propaganda, we still have to wonder whether they really are not aware that more and more of the decisions that count in the steel industry are being made by fewer and fewer individuals in both the management and labor phases of the business. And whether, if they see this, they are as concerned about it as we believe they should be.

* * *

WE HAVE a lot of respect for Senator Kefauver as an individual and as a public official. But we doubt that his political position and his political ambitions make him the ideal person to conduct this inquiry.

For anyone who looks honestly at the steel industry today has to see that the United Steelworkers union is essentially an autocracy which is run from the top down rather than from the bottom up. He has to see that the term "industrial democracy" as applied to the USW is a piece of fiction. The companies do not deal with their own employes in any of the important aspects of their relationships. Rather the decisions that matter are made by small handfuls of individuals in the paid hierarchy of the union on one side and a few representatives of the largest companies on the other.

Yet Senator Kefauver, as a man who has high political ambitions, did not ask a question during the entire week of the investigation whic indicated that he is aware of this concentration of power. To do so would probably have risked his "pro-labor" reputation.

It is for these reasons that we say that the inquiry is not yet reaching below the surface of its subject.

But we believe that the American people and their representatives in Congress need to look at these matters squarely. For the kind of "competition" Mr. Blough speaks about is not the kind that has been the American tradition. It is more in the tradition of the European cartel, and we do not like to see America sliding into such a system without being fully aware of what it is doing.

Out of Order

WE'RE INCLINED to agree with Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, the outspoken lady from Maine, that Jimmy Stewart, the movie actor, oughtn't to be made a general in the Air Force.

Mr. Stewart, like a lot of other fine lads, was a bomber pilot in World War II, and a very good one — like a lot of other lads.

He has also maintained an off-again, on-again interest, so the record shows, in the Air Force reserve, in which he has been a colonel.

But Mr. Stewart has not fulfilled the requirements for promotion in the reserve; he isn't qualified to fly modern military planes, and his promotion is contemplated, according to a brass hat of the Air Force, because he is "a very dedicated fellow".

About Jimmy's "dedication" we haven't the slightest doubt. Nor do we have any doubt that they're thinking of making him a general only because he is a prominent citizen.

And we agree with Senator Smith that those aren't good enough reasons for making generals.

Merry-Go-Round—

Justice Dept. Late in Civil Rights Cause

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — It should be noted that one group working ardently to delay the civil rights bill until next year in order to pass a tougher bill, is the Justice Department.

Mr. Pearson

To keep the record straight, here is how the Justice Department has pussyfooted regarding civil rights in the past:

Pussyfoot No. 1 — On July 27, 1955, exactly two years ago, Sen. Tom Hennings, Missouri Democrat, chairman of the Constitutional Rights Committee and a member of the Judiciary Committee, wrote the Justice Department requesting its views on Senate Bill 903 to protect the right of every citizen in political participation.

The Justice Department delayed more than two months trying to make up its mind. Then on Sept. 8, 1955, it refused to make up its mind. "Whether this particular measure should be enacted," it wrote, "constitutes a question of policy concerning which the Department of Justice prefers to make no recommendation."

In other words, the civil rights bill which the Justice Department now wants strengthened and held over until next year, was something upon which it refused to take a stand two years ago.

Pussyfoot No. 2 — On March 22, 1955, more than two years ago, Senator Hennings wrote the Justice Department asking for its opinion on Senate Bill 906 to establish a commission on civil rights. This is the same commission on civil rights now in the civil rights bill.

Five months passed, during which the Justice Department struggled to make up its mind. Then it decided it couldn't make up its mind. On Sept. 8, 1955, it replied: "Whether or not this measure should be enacted constitutes a question of policy concerning which the Department of Justice prefers to make no commitments."

Yet the Justice Department now wants a tougher civil rights bill passed.

Pussyfoot No. 3 — On Feb. 8, 1955, Senator Hennings wrote the Justice Department requesting its views on Senate Bill 904 to strengthen the laws relating to convict labor, peonage, slavery, and involuntary servitude.

This seemed rather non-controversial. Few Americans want to continue slavery in this modern day and age. Nevertheless, the Justice Department waited three months, then timidly informed Senator Hennings April 29, 1955, that it "would have no objection to the enactment of this legislation." The Justice Department did not come out emphatically for it. It did not say that strengthening the laws against peonage, slavery and involuntary servitude was a wholesome thing. It merely had "no objection."

Pussyfoot No. 4 — On March 22, 1955, Senator Hennings also wrote the Justice Department asking its opinion on his bill to "amend and supplement existing civil rights statutes.

Two-and-one-half years have now passed. The Justice Department has not yet had the courtesy to reply.

Pussyfoot No. 5 — On March 22, 1955, Senator Hennings also asked the Justice Department for its view on Senate Bill 907, an omnibus bill in which was combined many provisions of the present civil rights bill protecting the voting rights of Negroes.

Two-and-a-half years have now passed, and the Department of Justice has not yet replied to this request for its views.

GOP Political Gold

"Just who in this administration finally decided," asked Senator Hennings the other day, "that it was a matter of good and sound public policy to do something or other to protect the constitutional rights of our citizens?"

"Just what do you really suppose is now the reason for this sudden and unexpected interest which Mr. Brownell and other gentlemen in the Republican Party's high command are taking justice for Negroes?" he continued.

Probably he didn't expect an answer. But Congressman Dick Simpson of Pennsylvania, chairman of the Republican committee for re-electing congressmen, gave it in a private remark to other Republicans.

"If we pass a civil rights bill," he confided, "we can pick up almost every northern Negro vote and sweep the House of Representatives in the next election."

Congressman Frank Boykin of Alabama had a different way of putting it: "The Republicans have suddenly discovered there's black gold in them thar hills."

It's a Fact—

A cithera is an ancient musical instrument resembling the lute. From the cithera have come the modern zither and guitar.

Cold Snap

End the Finger-printing

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

The Soviet Union is having a field-day of lush propaganda proclaiming how willing and eager they are to have American students, artists, scholars and specialists visit the Soviet Union — and having to do virtually nothing to make good on it.

Mr. Drummond

This is a Communist's utopia: a one-way propaganda street with all the benefit accruing to Moscow.

We play right into the hands of the Soviets by requiring that all visitors, except government officials, must be fingerprinted by the U. S. before being granted visas.

In an earlier column I discussed the negative results of this provision which virtually nobody in the government wants but which nobody does anything about.

It gives the Kremlin the easiest possible device with which to discourage Russians from visiting America and put the blame on the United States for their restrictions.

It gives the Kremlin the fullest opportunity to picture the U. S., with considerable plausibility, as erecting an iron curtain against cultural exchange between the Soviet-satellite world and itself as if we were the ones who are afraid to let others see America and afraid to let Americans freely see Russia.

Let Them See U. S.

But there are positive reasons for doing away with this finger-printing business and doing away with it promptly. They are these:

1. We have everything to win and nothing to lose by encouraging people behind the Communist iron curtain, including students, to come and see what life is like in America. This is the best form of competitive co-existence and the advantages are with the free world. We should use this advantage, not throw it away.

2. The greater the number of Soviet citizens who visit the United States and come to know America somewhat at first hand for themselves, the more difficult it is for the Kremlin to sell them its falsehoods about America and what a free society is like. Such knowledge will spread in Russia and spread widely and it is the best possible inoculation against lies about America and Americans.

3. It is evident that there is an increased yearning to know about the outside world among Russians who have never been outside their country and who are allowed to read only what the Soviet censors allow to be printed. This is true of Russian students who refused to accept what their government told them about the Hungarian uprising. This is true of Russian technicians, industrial and scientific, who are eager to know what makes the American economy and industry tick and how the men and women who make it go reap its fruits.

4. As it is no wthe Sovet government can advise those Russians they trust to acquiesce in being finger-printed to visit the U. S. and thus can easily limit cultural exchange to those it thinks would be most immune to "dangerous thoughts." If we withdraw the finger-printing requirements, the Kremlin will either have to widen the range of those who would come or assume the blame, instead of successfully putting it on the United States, of keeping them from coming.

I can hardly think of anything worse than for the United States to stand before the world as the nation which is afraid to engage in a man-for-man exchange of students, artists, scholars and specialists within the Soviet Union — with Russia impressively pretending that she is eager to do it if we will.

Let's call this Soviet bluff, if it is a bluff. If it isn't a bluff, let's engage in as massive an exchange as the Kremlin will accept. If it isn't a bluff, we will be getting exactly the same opportunities of entrance and travel into Russia as the Russians would get from us.

It's a good deal and we ought not to be the ones to say no.

It will take an act of Congress to remove the finger-printing provision. As a part of other changes in the Immigration Act, Rep. Francis E. Walter, D., of Pa., has proposed it. So have Senators Dirksen, Kennedy, Mansfield and Javits.

Why not separate this relatively non-controversial change in the law from other proposals and act on it this month so that no more time is lost

Overhaul of Election Laws Still Needed

By RAMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON (UP) — The approaching adjournment of Congress means another year is passing without action to overhaul federal election laws.

Next year is an election year. Congress normally shows even less interest in tinkering with the laws that govern campaigning as the time for voting draws closer.

Mr. Lahr

It is a rare Congress that fails to receive a report from one or more of its committees recommending a big rewrite of election statutes. Yet little has been done since passage of the Hatch Act almost 20 years ago.

A controversial bill came out of the Senate Elections Subcommittee last year. Senate Republican and Democratic leaders later joined in sponsoring a bill, narrower in scope, in the hope of getting action. Even this softer bill never came to a vote.

More Efforts Fruitless

Last winter the same subcommittee brought forth a report, as big as a metropolitan telephone directory, on the 1956 political campaign. Republicans disputed its conclusions and it provided no basis for the widespread agreement essential if a bill is to be passed.

Later other recommendations came from the special Senate committee created last year to investigate improper lobbying and campaign activities. Its report was referred to the elections subcommittee, which approved another bill packed with controversy last month.

Throughout the argument over updating the election laws there has been little agreement except on this one point:

Present ceilings on campaign spending are unrealistic and easily avoided. The three million dollar annual limit on expenditures by national political committees is circumvented by multiplying the number of committees. The ceilings on personal expenditures of congressional candidates are ignored by the simple device of creating committees to do the spending.

Election reform advocates agree something should be done to bring these provisions up to date to recognize, among other things, the cost of television campaigning. But from there they scatter in all directions.

Some Here, Some There

Some want to apply the spending limits and reporting requirements to primary and pre-convention campaigns. The present law in effect exempts Democratic congressional candidates in the one-party South because it exempts primaries. The same applies to Republicans in a few one - party states.

The law also puts no restraints on preconvention campaigning like the Taft-Eisenhower contest for the 1952 GOP presidential nomination or the Stevenson - Kefauver competition before the 1956 Democratic convention.

Another election reform proposal calls for limiting the contributions which can be made by one individual who now may contribute up to $5,000 to an unlimited number of political committees. So can each member of his family. This reform idea is liked by many Democrats who think most wealthy persons making such suzeable contributions are on the side of the GOP.

Some Republicans for their part are insistent on tightening the law to restrict political spending by labor organizations, most of which side with the Democrats. These Republicans think the unions have found too many loopholes.

At the White House—

Ike's Trip to Newport To Be Well Covered

By MERRIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON (UP) — Backstairs at the White House:

When and if President Eisenhower gets away to Newport, R.I., for a vacation, it will be about the most widely covered trip of his administration. So far, 127 reporters, photographers and radio-television technicians have applied to the White House for credentials to cover the vacation headquarters of the Eisenhowers.

And speaking of news coverage of the Chief Executive, nothing has stirred up quite as much dust in reporting circles in the past few years as the President's sudden, unannounced press conference last week.

Only 14 reporters were at the White House when Press Secretary Jim Hagerty informed them Eisenhower was waiting to talk with them in his office. This was when Eisenhower decided to make his dramatic appeal for his flagging foreign aid program.

As soon as the news hit the press association wires, there were some sudden arrivals at the White House gates of newsmen who normally do not hit the executive offices every afternoon until 4 p.m.

There was one ironic twist. Two of the men who have argued longest and loudest for afternoon rather than the morning news conferences the President prefers—well, they didn't make it for one of the few afternoon conferences held by Eisenhower since he entered office.

These two fellows have been kidded a lot about this and Hagerty pleads, "Please keep me out of it."

It is difficult to tell in advance how the public will react to news coverage of the President or a member of his family.

For instance, when he was in the hospital for a heart attack back in 1955 at Denver, there was a seeming insatiable public appetite for news of his condition. But the public boiled over with indignation when one of the medical bulletins was quite accurate in describing the President's body functions.

Thousands of letter writers blamed the newspapers, when actually the announcement was made by one of the President's doctors and through his White House offices.

A somewhat similar situation developed last week end in connection with surgery undergone by Mrs. Eisenhower at Walter Reed Army Hospital. A lot of mail rolled into the White House in a hurry, complaining bitterly about front-page display and broadcasting regarding her operation for a rather common female disorder.

A number of letter writers complained the First Lady should be entitled to whatever degree of privacy she desired.

It still is true, however, there would be a much greater public outcry if any effort were made to hide an illness of the President or any member of his family.

There's a good bet the President will want to share in the Civil War conference scheduled to be held on the campus of Gettysburg (Pa.) College Nov. 17-19. Some of the nation's top authorities on the historic battle will be on hand, thus providing the President with an expert forum before which to trot out his theories about "sacking" the high command on both sides of the battle.

The storm that kicked up after the President's battlefield tour with British Marshal Bernard Montgomery early this year is still in the air and the November conference could stir it up all over again—if Eisenbower wants to take on the experts.

ON THE BALL

Enthusiasm High Among Midget Officers

That was quite a meeting the local Midget Football League had the other night at Celapino's. No wonder the local group operates so successfully when it has such enthusiasm. Especially was Dr. M. W. Heatter bubbling over with his interest in the kid gridders. Ditto Dr. Pallone, superintendent of schools, plus the coaches, officials and all others connected with the loop . . . Speaking of youth groups, did you know that there was the equivilant of a Little League team in the McKeesport area as far back as 1910? . . . The Sam Firestone Baseball Club of 12-14 year-olds was a completely uniformed group which won 32, lost two and tied one for the 1910 season.

Carl Dean Davis, 23-year-old Irwin native has been elected the new basketball coach at Jeannette High School succeeding Joseph Churchman, who recently resigned to take the principal's post at East McKeesport. Davis was elected to the $700 post over Junior high mentor Joseph Rubino by a 4-3 count. One of the applicants was Moe Becker, former member of the Iron Dukes of Duquesne (1940 era). Becker, now teaches in Canton, in northeastern Pennsylvania . . . Incidentally, Jeannette's star grid quarterback Dick Hoak will enroll at Penn State, according to an informed source, namely, Mr. Hoak. He also says Jim Cunningham of Connellsville, Mike Ditka of Aliquippa and Dave Alexander of New Castle, back and end respectively, will join the Nittany Lion squad.

West Newton Group Honors Youth Leagues

West Newton held its sixth annual Greater Baseball Association banquet the other night (Thursday) with Frank Buscanics, popular district sportscaster as main speaker. Over 165 boys who played in the Association's Little and PONY League attended the fete. Included among the sponsors of the association are the Smithton Lions, Yukon Lions, Wyano Vets, West Newton Rotary, West Newton Kiwanis and West Newton Lions. Outstanding players honored were Arthur Gingliardi, who batted .600 as a member of the Smithton Dodgers of the PONY League and Allen Specht of the West Newton PONY Cubs, who hit .550 and had a 9-0 hurling mark. The Pittsburgh Pirates have Specht under surveilance for future reference.

George Estok was elected assistant football coach at Rostraver recently, but not "officially." George was okayed by a 3-2 vote and presumably elected. However, a check with the solicitor reveals that four votes are necessary to award any school jobs which carry a salary . . . Incidently none of the directors really opposed Estok. The negative votes objected to the entire coaching situation at the Lep school . . . Since Estok helped Junior High boss Ed Hogan last season, that leaves a vacancy on the Junior Lep staff. Chances are athletic director Jim Weir will assist Hogan. He's offered to do so if no other candidates crop up.

Pessimist Manzini Praises Band, Grass

"We'll have beautiful stadium grass and a fine band," that's Bellmar Coach Bap Manzini's quote on the prospects for the Hurricane football prospects for 1957. Bap is certainly the Frank Leahy of district high school coaches and then usually comes up with a fine eleven . . . One of Bap's top performers of last season, outstanding center John Hewitt has passed his examinations for admittance to the Naval Preparatory School on the Naval Academy base and will enter Annapolis in 1958. He continues to be an active student living up to his title, "most outstanding" in the Bellmar class of '57. He's enrolled in the Prep school band and glee club.

This is your big chance to become a professional baseball star—perhaps a major leaguer. Apply now. Go to your nearest ball park or see the scout in your territory.

Perhaps the foregoing sounds as if baseball is a golden opportunity for every kid who dreams of being a Musial, a Mantle, or a Williams. And I don't want to create the impression that any youngster who knocks on the door of a ball park, bat and glove in hand, is going to wind up in the uniform of a professional club.

But there is a tremendous opportunity for lads with talent — more than ever before. There is, in fact, a great paradox involving our national pastime today.

There are more fans, more interest in the game than ever before. Literally millions of new people have become followers through the magic medium of radio and TV. There is a legion of mothers and dads who never had more than a passing interest in the game until their sons became Little Leaguers, Babe Ruth Leaguers, Pony Leaguers, American Legion players, or in some way involved with the great sandlot program that flourishes in our land today.

Yet with all this wealth of talent there is a scarcity of players. But the major leagues shy away from new working agreements when they do not have enough qualified players to fill rosters.

'Perhaps we haven't driven our message of opportunity home hard enough. Perhaps too many young DiMaggios are passing up the field of baseball for commerce or industry because they haven't realized that they had the potential to become professional stars.

It is no easy climb up the ladder, let me assure you. But the rewards at the top are worth the stopover at every rung along the way.

City Softball Playoffs Open

Ravens at Hallers, 9th Street

Playoffs in the local City Softball League begin tonight at 6 o'clock on the Ninth Street Park diamond.

Italian Hall and the Ravens meet in the first of a best-of-three series. These two rivals met three times during the regular season with the Hallers copping two games but the Ravens, clobbering their previous conquerors 24-1 in the third meeting.

Tonight the Hallers will depend on the strong arm of Ral Sekoski to hurl them to victory with help from a top defensive unit. The Ravens will show a veteran team, which started the season rather slowly then came on strong after dropping its first six tilts to finish in a tie for third place along with Italian Hall and PNA.

This will mark the first time in City Softball League history that five teams will be competing in the playoffs. Battling for the 1957 crown will be Italian Hall, Ravens, PNA, Myfords and the league pennant-winning Cro-Ams entry.

Four umpires from the Monessen Softball Umpires Association will work the playoff games.

A banner crowd is expected to witness the playoffs which will be held every night at Ninth Street Park until the '57 champion is crowned.

PNA, which drew a first round playoff bye, will meet the winners of the Ravens-Italian Hall series. The Cro-Ams-Myford series dates will be announced later.

Coach Armand Niccolai and his staff will welcome the 1957 Monessen High Greyhound grid candidates at the Stadium and Stadium Annex this morning.

Only 37 gridders reported for physicals here last week but "Nick" expects a larger turnout today as some prospective gridders have now completed summer employment which prevented their reporting last week.

Drills are also underway at all other valley schools. District-wise, Bap Manzini expects at least 50 to report Camp Marion in Fairhope. Coach Wade Bender of Rostraver, who had 43 report for examinations last week also expects at least 50 today.

Charleroi had 62 show up last week when the call for physicals went out and should have close to 70 reporting today.

Large turnouts are also expected at Brownsville, Donora, and other district schools such as West Newton, Perryopolis, South Huntingdon, California, etc.

Most of the schools will drill at home but some like Charleroi and West Newton will head for camp after a few days of practice on the home field.

Practically all openers are set for the weekend of September 13-14-15. The WPIAL requires all schools to get in at least three weeks of practice before the opener.

Ken Venturi Wins First Golf Title

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UP)—Golden boy Ken Venturi was wearing his first professional golf crown today. The 26-year-old former amateur star from San Francisco "beat the pros" Sunday when he copped the St. Paul Open with a record-tieing 72-hole total of 266—22 under par.

Venturi, who decided to try the play-for-pay tour after he defeated all the pros but Jackie Burke in the 1956 Masters tournament, put together rounds of 66, 67, 65 and a final 68 to tie a record set by Lloyd Mangrum in 1951 and equalled by Dr. Cary Middlecoff the next year.

Bob Rosburg, another San Franciscan, who led the field after his opening round 64, came back with 66 for a 268 total and second-place money in the $24,000 event.

Briggs Fans 16 In Three-Hitter; FC-Tilt Tonight

Charleroi is "in" as a finalist in the Mon Valley League championship play following a 3-1 victory on Fred Briggs' brilliant three-hitter at Perryopolis yesterday.

The triumph was the third for Charleroi in the five-game series. Perry won one tilt.

Charleroi now awaits the outcome of the Fayette City-New Eagle series which continues at Fayette City tonight at 5:30 o'clock. New Eagle is leading in the five-game set 2-0 with one game ending in a tie. The Merchants and the eventual Fayette City-New Eagle winner will meet in a best-of-seven series for the title.

Briggs was brilliant in posting his win yesterday as he fanned 16 Perry batters. He received some fine pitching opposition from Manager Don Mains of Perry, however, as Mains allowed only six hits. There were no extra-base blows in the game.

Perry took a 1-0 second inning lead but Charleroi tied it at 1-1 in the sixth and pushed the winning markers across in the ninth frame.

Jim Lazzari of Charleroi had two hits, the only batter on either team to garner more than one safe blow.

Kikla's No-hitter Advances Mates

Eddie Kikla hurled Monongahela's Junior Legion team into the State playoffs with a 11-0 win over Vandergrift at Monongahela Saturday evening on a no-hitter.

Kikla fanned 11 and walked only four in tossing his masterpiece, one of amny such feats he has accomplished since Little League days.

He had considerable hitting help from such stalwarts as Butch Peters, Rich Sacane and Billy McCall, all former teammates on Monongahela's National championship PONY team in 1954. Peters blasted out a homer, Sacane a triple and double and McCall a triple Larry Keenan also hit a two-bagger for the winners.

Next start for Monongahela is at Harrisburg at a date to be announced.

Women's Golf Champ Favored

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UP) - Defending champion Marlene Stewart Streit ranked as the player's choice today while Barbara Romack Porter, the hometown girl who made good, was a heavy gallery favorite as play began in the 57th annual U.S. Women's Amateur golf championship.

Poker-faced Mrs Streit from Fonthill, Ont, who resembles the incomparable Ben Hogan in her powers of concentration on the golf course and silver-blonde Mrs Porter were two of a dozen players rated as championship possibilities in the match play tournament.

By the luck of the draw, both were placed in the same lower bracket but will not meet until late in the week if they get past their early matches.

Mrs Porter carries a plus-two handicap at the host Del Paso Country Club course and knows every foot of terrain and every break on the greens on the 6,368-yard par-74 layout. She won the National in 1954 and has been playing in recent weeks right at the 70-71 mark.

A total of 94 players were entered in the National Amateur and 34 of them were lucky enough to draw first round byes. They won't see action until Tuesday.

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF

Conquer Fear

Narrow fairways are hard to hit at best. And when fear grips you, they become impossible to hit!

Sometimes, as when the fairway narrows down as the distance from the tee increases, you'd better take a three-wood or four-wood instead of the driver so as to give yourself a bigger target. But when you must also have maximum distance off the tee in order to give yourself a chance for a par, the only thing to do is go at it with the biggest club you have.

When you do, loosen up and hit the ball with your best swing. Don't try to guide the ball. Trying to guide it will only increase your wildness and cut down heavily on your distance. Just remember that hitting a tight fairway is often not as tough as it looks. In any event, your best chance lies in hitting away with a smooth, free swing — never a tight, jerky swing!

Literal, Figurative Lightning Stops Braves' Pennant March

By FRED DOWN

They say lightning never strikes twice in the same place but the Milwaukee Braves know better today after it struck County Stadium three times — once literally, and twice in the form of Stan Musial and Vinegar Bend Mizell.

A sharp bolt of the "real thing" hit the stadium during the second inning of Sunday's opener with the St. Louis Cardinals and before the day was ended Musial and Mizell struck too to produce an 8-6 and 6-0 sweep that cut the Braves' National League lead to 6½ games Thus, the Cardinals "braked" the Milwaukee runaway and raised the possibility that there may yet be a close pennant race

The New York Yankees, meanwhile, seemed to be making good on their long - predicted runaway threat in the American League when they swept the Baltimore Orioles, 7-0 and 3-2, to open up a 7½-game margin—their longest of the season. The second - place Chicago White Sox cooperated by dropping a 5-1 decision before beating the Detroit Tigers, 4-1.

Redlegs Lose Sixth Straight

The Chicago Cubs dealt the Cincinnati Redlegs their sixth consecutive setback, 8-2, the New York Giants beat the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-4 and 1-0, and the last-place Pittsburgh Pirates downed the Brooklyn Dodgers, 8-6, after a 2-1 defeat in the other National League games. The Washington Senators whipped the Boston Red Sox, 6-4, and the Cleveland Indians drubbed the Kansas City Athletics in American League single games.

The Cardinals rallied for six runs in the last three innings of the 10-inning opener, Musial climaxing the comeback with a two-run homer, and then led all the way behind Mizell's four-hitter in the nightcap. Musial had two hits in each game to regain the NL batting lead with a .33 mark and his 2,933 hits now place him 11th on the all-time list. Mizell's victory was his fifth of the year and the first since July 29.

A crowd of 45,207 sat through the eight-hour and 18-minute double-header, which was held up two hours and 14 minutes by rain and ended at 10:48 p.m. e.d.t.

Bob Rush pitched an eight-hitter and Ernie Banks drove in three runs with a homer and double to lead the Cubs to their sixth straight win. Joe Nuxhall was knocked out in 4 2-3 innings and suffered his seventh loss for Cincinnati. The Cubs have won 12 of their last 15 games, three against the Redlegs.

Hank Sauer smashed two home runs to spark the Giants to their opening - game triumph and Al Worthington hurled a three hitter to complete the sweep. Mike McCormick, 18-year-old bonus pitcher, received credit for his second win in the first game. The Phillies now have lost 14 of their last 18 games.

Duke Snider's 30th homer, a two-run shot in the seventh inning, gave Sal Maglie the nod over Bob Friend, who yielded only two hits, but the Pirates scored four runs against Clem Labine in the eighth to take the nightcap. Snider also homered in the second in the second game and now has hit at least 30 homers in each of the last five seasons.

Yanks' Berra Shines

Yogi Berra knocked in two runs with two singles and a double in the first game and drove in all three Yankee runs with two singles in the nightcap. Tom Sturdivant hurled a five - hitter for his 11th win and Don Larsen picked up his seventh win aided by Bob Grim's relief. Mickey Mantle had three hits in seven tries to lift his average to .385—seven points behind Boston's Ted Williams, who went 1-for-4 against the Senators.

Dick Donovan scattered eight hits and won his sixth straight decision and 14th of the year for the White Sox after Frank Lary hurled and batted the Tigers to victory in the opener. Sherm Lollar drove in two runs with a homer and a single to lead the White Sox after Lary pitched a four - hitter and singled home the decisive run for Detroit.

Roy Sievers' grand slam homer lifted the Senators to their triumph over Frank Sullivan and the Red Sox. with Truman Clevenger earning his sixth win for the Senators. Al Smith led Cleveland's 11 - hit attack with three hits as Cal McLish went the distance for his sixth triumph. Hal Smith had two hits for the Athletics.

Steelers Return To Camp After 24-7 Shellacking

OLEAN, N.Y. (UP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers were back in camp today after a 24-7 loss to the Chicago bears in an exhibition game Saturday night at the Gator Bowl in Jacksonville, Fla.

The Bears had an easy time of it as they romped over Pittsburgh, scoring one touchdown in the first quarter, two in the second and a field goal in the third.

Steelers failed to score until time ran out. Pittsburgh quarterback Len Dawson tossed a desperation pass on the last play of the game to halfback Ralph Jelic for a 35-yard touchdown, with Jelic crossing the goal after the final gun sounded.

The first Bear touchdown came after a 73-yard punt return by Peter Jeter. The other two came on plays after the alert Bear defense intercepted Steeler passes.

In accordance with a new agreement, the Steelers wre paid $50 each for the exhibition contest.

Stan Snaps Slump to Jump into NL Lead

MILWAUKEE (UP) — Veteran Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals held the National League batting lead today after breaking out of a mild slump, and joined select groups of major leaguers with more than 2,930 base hits and 5,000 total bases in his brilliant career.

The 3 -year-old slugger got four hits in 10 tries in a double-header against the Milwaukee Braves Sunday, including his 26th homer which won the first game. St Louis swept both games, 8-6 and 6-0, to narrow Milwaukee's league lead to 6½ games over the second place Cardinals.

Musial's current lifetime total of 2,933 hits moves him into 11th place ahead of Rogers Hornsby and Jacob Beckley in that department, and his 5,001 total bases puts him in a class with five other players who have reached the 5,000 mark.

Musial, who seeks his seventh batting title, holds the league lead with a .333 average — two points ahead of Dick Groat of Pittsburgh and six ahead of Hank Aaron of Milwaukee, Frank Robinson of Cinhinnati and Willie Mays of New York.

Musial, who was named the "major league player of the decade" in a poll by the Sporting News of St Louis last year, has won the National League batting crown six times and was the latest repeater when he won it in 1950-51-52.

He said he has resumed playing both games of double-headers because he has felt stronger since the weather turned cooler. H started sitting out second games in mid - season because the heat weakened him.

Dick Semple Wins First West Penn Title in 20 Years

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Dick Semple of Allegheny Country Club defeated Sam Musico 1 up in a rugged contest Saturday to win his first West Penn Amateur championship after 20 years of competition in the event.

Last year, Semple lost the finals to Jim Curti at the Field Club. He was a semi-finalist in the tourney as far back as 1939.

In Saturday's 6-hole contest at Allegheny, Musico was 1 up at the end of the first 18 holes.

The first five holes of the second eighteen were won alternately by Musico, who displayed brilliant putting throughout the match and then Semple. It wasn't until the ninth hole that Semple was able to tie the score with a tide turning 15-foot put.

The champion sunk a sensational 40 foot wedge shot on the 30th to go ahead 1 up and never gave up the lead again.

Semple almost missed the tournament this year because of a low qualifying score of 80.

Giants Announce Shift Plans Today

NEW YORK (UP) — The New York Giants are expected to announce today that they will transfer their 74-year-old National League franchise to San Francisco for the 1958 season.

Club President Horace Stoneham is expected to make the formal announcement after a meeting with his board of directors. Stoneham already has called the San Francisco offer "firm and fair" and should not encounter much opposition from the directors.

The National League approved a Giant franchise switch on May 28 when it also paved the way for the Brooklyn Dodgers to shift to Los Angeles. Formal announcement that the Dodgers will make their shift also is anticipated at the close of the current season.

Pirates Rally to Win After Friend Loses Two-hitter

BROOKLYN (UP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates rallied in the second game of a doubleheader Sunday to defeat Brooklyn, 8-6, after Buc hurler Bob Friend lost a two-hitter, 2-1, to Sal Maglie in the opener.

The victory was the 10th over Brooklyn for the Pirates, who have a better record against the Bums than any other team in the league.

A four-run uprising against reliever Clem Labine in the eighth inning sewed up the second game for the Pirates after Duke Snider tied the score at 4-4 in the seventh inning with his 31st home run and second of the day.

Snider's other home run came in the first game and won the decision for Brooklyn.

Bill Virdon opened the second game eighth with an infield hit and was sacrificed to second. After Bob Skinner was intentionally passed, third baseman Bob Zimmer bobbled Frank Thomas' grounder to load the bases. Gene Baker's infield out scored Virdon and Bill Mazeroski doubled to produce two more runs.

Harding Peterson singled to score Mazeroski with the final run of the inning.

Earlier in the game, the Pirates built up their dead against Brooklyn starter Roger Craig on solo homers by Dick Groat and Peterson. Elroy Face, the third of five Pirate pitchers, received credit for the victory.

Friend, after retiring the first 16 batters in order and pitching a no-hitter for six innings, was tagged for a lead-off single by Junior Gilliam. Snider then slammed his home run into the upper centerfield grandstands. Sal Maglie was the winning pitcher.

The Pirates are idle today. They meet Milwaukee for a single game Tuesday, followed by an idle day Wednesday and then a three game series with Cincinnati beginning Thursday.

Greaves to Fight Gordon at Jeannette

PITTSBURGH (UP)— Wilf Greaves, Canadian middleweight managed by Mrs. Jake Mintz, will fight Bobby Gordon, Akron, Ohio, Aug. 29th at McKee Stadium in Jeannette, Pa.

The 10 rounder will be Greave's first fight since June 28, when he knocked out Canadian middleweight contender Jackie Headon.

Mihalic Driver to Watch at Arden

Joe Mihalic, one fellow who changed horses in the middle of the stream and made it pay, will be the driver to watch at Washington Raceway tomorrow night.

Joe drove two other cars in the Pittsburgh Racing Assn. this year but in mid-season switched to No. 19. That gave him a lot of ground to make up in the point standings but he finally pushed back into the top ten two weeks ago.

Then, last week he won the feature 50-lap race at Washington to move into the top five.

Herb Scott and Dick Linder, the PRA point leaders, still are a bit out of his range, but Joe has his sights set on third place currently held by Lee Stover.

With a good showing Tuesday night at Washington and another good finish in the double point 75-lapper at Heidelberg Thursday night, Joe has a good chance to climb.

Hopes for Cure Dashed

WASHINGTON (UP)—The government as an act of mercy cautioned victims of an incurable malady today against false hope.

The malady is "Lou Gehrig's disease" or amyotrophic lateral sclerosis (ALS).

It is almost invariably fatal. Medical science knows of no effective treatment for it.

In recent months dispatches have appeared in newspapers around the world reporting that a German physician, Dr Artur Boss of Schwenningen, claimed some success in treating ALS sufferers.

According to Edward M. Glick, information officer of the Public Health Service's National Institute of Neurological Diseases, the German reports sowed a bitter seed which since has borne fruit in needless heartache.

The institute has received many hundreds of desperate inquiries from ALS victims or their relatives, in this country and abroad, who had read of the German doctor's claims.

It has been Glick's unhappy duty to dash the hopes of the stricken. He has done it by letter, telegram, telephone and even cable.

"To the best of our knowledge," he says, "there is no known cure for ALS, nor is there a treatment which is fully effective."

ALS is a degenerative disease of the nervous system. First there is weakness of the limb, then a wasting of the muscles, finally involvement of the brain and death.

Death usually occurs about three years after the first symptoms are diagnosed.

TELLS OF PROFITS — John F Gordon, General Motors vice president, appears before the House Armed Services Committee in Washington to deny that his corporation made "excessive" profits on an Air Force contract. He was answering charges that 17,000,000 had been padded on cost estimates. Gordon said investigators had "ample data" to evaluate the cost.

Yasmin Wins Race

ST. - PIERRE - SUR - DIVES, France (UP)—Yasmin Khan, 7-year-old daughter of Prince Aly Khan and screen star Rita Hayworth, piloted her Shetland pony to victory Sunday in an all-children's sulky trot. It was the first horse race in which she ever took part and the results were carried by the French pari-mutuel betting wire. Her horse paid off 12 francs for 10.

Three Sought In Fatal Shooting Of Policeman

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn (UP) — Federal, state and local authorities conducted a widespread search today for three young men who killed a policeman and critically wounded his partner.

Police said they were prepared for another gun battle with the three dapper men wanted in the Saturday night slaying of patrolman Robert Fossum, 31, and the wounding of his partner, Ward Canfield, 35.

A woman motorist who was kidnaped and freed by the fleeing gunmen described them as well dressed and under 25. They were believed carrying pistols and a shotgun taken from the wounded officer.

Mrs. Alvin Anderson, of suburban Bloomington, told police the three men curbed her car, drove her a short distance and then forced her from the vehicle.

Fossum and Canfield spotted the three in a stolen car while cruising through a neighborhood business section here.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Corporal Matthew Comko, who died 11 years ago today, August 19, 1946.
My dears, please do not grieve,
As from this world I take my leave.
My work here is finished; I must hurry on,
To a lovelier place in the great beyond.
I shall be happy, have no fear,
No turmoil there, no war, no tears,
Just peace and calm and always light,
Never a wrong thought, everything right.
I leave not a song to praise my name,
I leave no riches, I go as I came.
I part with a smile, a word of cheer,
I'm not alone, my dears, God is here
Sadly missed by his parents, Mr. & Mrs. Michael Comko, brother and sisters

Leader on Drought Inspection of Farms

By UNITED PRESS

Gov. George M. Leader embarked today on a personal inspection tour of drought damage on southeastern Pennsylvania farms.

The governor began his tour this morning and will visit farms in Bucks, Chester, Montgomery and Berks counties. He will be accompanied by state Secretary of Agriculture William L. Henning and was expected to confer with local county agents on the extent of damage during the long drought.

Leader said the tour will be a preliminary to requesting federal aid for farmers. The visit comes just a week after New Jersey Governor Robert L. Myner's request for aid was turned down by President Eisenhower.

Conservation

District directors of soil conservation from 12 northeastern states are scheduled to hear a talk by U. S. Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Ervin L. Peterson in Wilmington, Del. today. Peterson will talk on closer ties between soil conservation and the new farm program.

State Secretary of Agriculture William L. Henning was expected to attend the Wilmington discussion and to head the Pennsylvania delegation from the commonwealth's 48 conservation districts

The talks, expected to last two days, will include discussion of upstream flood prevention programs and the role of self-governing districts in soil conservation work. The meeting comes on the second anniversary of Hurricane Diane, which in August, 1955, tore a disastrous path through southeastern Pennsylvania and other seaboard states.

Township

Fifty-five Pennsylvania counties have been certified as free of brucellossis, Doctor Howard A. Milo, director of the Bureau of Animal Industry said today.

Milo said that only two counties, Lebanon and Bradford, have not yet completed testing for the contagious livestock disease. To be certified, the infection cannot exceed one per cent in the county cattle population and five per cent of the county's herd.

Dcotor Milo said that only three Bradford County townships still remain outside the current testing program and that nine Lebanon townships have yet to apply. He estimated that the entire state would be tested prior to his original target date of Jan. 1, 1958.

Deadly Dagger Is Stolen from N. Y. Apartment

NEW YORK (UP)—An unsuspecting burglar may be carrying a 7th Century Oriental dagger with a poison-tipped blade that could lead to instant death, police said today.

The dagger—called a kris—was stolen Saturday from the apartment of an Indonesian consular official The official, Koesmartono Prawotoadikoesoemo, deputy chief of the supply mission attached to the Indonesian consul general's office, said the dagger's 16 - inch blade had been bathed in poisonous herbs by a Hindu holy man.

Just a slight cut from the blade could be fatal, the consular official said.

The dagger, valued at $3,000, has been in the Prawotoadikoesoemo family for generations, he said. The elaborately fashioned knife and its scabbard were fashioned by a monk in the mountains of Java.

"It is very bad luck to steal one of them," Prawotoadikoesoemo said.

The consular official said the dagger, sheathed in a gold-covered teakwood scabbard, was taken from a dresser drawer, along with $6.70 in cash. It is customarily worn on formal occasions and at the Indonesian court, he said, adding that he wore it when he and Mrs. Prawotoadikoesoemo were married.

The kris is sent each year to the Hindu holy man who bathes the blade in a solution of poisonous herbs, roots and sulphur. This has not been done, however, since Mr. Prawotoadikoesoemo arrived here three years ago.

Many 'Adult Westerns' Slated for TV in Fall

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP)—You'll see a lot of adult westerns on TV this fall, but not many adult easterns.

Hollywood has won the battle as origination point for TV shows. As a result, most of your TV fare will be on film this season with westerns and situation comedies the principal staples.

Of the 112 evening shows definitely-tentatively set (a Madison Ave. phrase meaning: "If-there-are-any-more - changes-we'll - just-slit our throats") on the three networks, only 41 will be live. And only 27 shows on the nighttime roster will be beamed out of Manhattan.

Adult westerns (those are the ones in which the cowboy is smarter than the horse) comprise the bulk of the new shows. There'll be 10 new oaters along with seven old ones. ABC-TV will stable six of the newcomers—"Colt .45," "Maverick," "Sugarfoot," "Tombstone Territory," Zorro" and "The Real McCoys."

New One-Hour Epic

CBS TV is chipping in with "Have Gun, Will Travel" and NBC-TV will slot "Restless Gun," "The Californians" and "Wagon Train," a one-hour epic.

Situation comedies will account for 19 of the fall berths, five of them new entries. You'll continue to see such oldies as "Burns and Allen," "Life of Riley," "December Bride" and "Father Knows Best." You can also expect to dim the new "Eve Arden Show," "Bachelor Father," "Leave it to Beaver" and "Dick and the Duchess" on CBS-TV. NBC-TV is touting "Sally," with Joan Caulfield.

There'll be a clutch of new musicals this autumn with ABC-TV unveiling four fronted by Frank Sinatra, Pat Boone, Patrice Munsel and Guy Mitchell. CBS-TV's musical effort is the 60-minute "Big Record" with Patti Page and NBC - TV is packaging shows helmed by Gisele Mackenzie and Rosie Clooney.

NBC-TV also is high on its new one-hour Tuesday program which combines the talents of Eddie Fisher and George Gobel.

Some of the other offerings on tap are "Perry Mason" (one hour) and "Harbor Master" on CBS-TV, the "Walter Winchell Show" and "O.S.S." on ABC-TV and "Suspicion" (one hour), "The Court of Last Resort" and "The Thin Man" on NBC-TV. NBC-TV will unpackage the only new quiz, "What's It For" with Hal March.

What you won't see is Sid Caesar, Jackie Gleason, the Robert Montgomery and Kaiser Aluminum drama hours, the Arthur Godfrey Wednesday night show, "Lux Video," "Hey Jeannie," "Crossroads," and "Blondie."

They've all sunk in their channels. And if this season follows the form of other seasons, they'll soon be joined by a cluster of fresh victims.

Four Killed: 30 Hurt When Bus Hits Abutment

BELMAR, N.J. (UP)— Four persons were killed and 30 injured Sunday when a bus blew a tire and crashed into an abutment on the Garden State Parkway.

State police and hospital authorities today were trying to identify the dead—three women and one man, all middle-aged.

Ten of the injured were hospitalized in satisfactory condition. Twenty others were treated at Fitkin Memorial Hospital at Neptune and discharged.

Three of the victims were killed instantly. The fourth, a woman, died seven hours later.

State police said the public service bus, bound from Atlantic City to New York, was traveling at 50 miles an hour when the right front tire blew out. The bus, moving in the passing lane, skidded diagonally for 100 yards before slamming into the concrete overpass.

The roof of the bus was sheared off back to the fourth row of seats. Rescuers used acetylene torches to free several passengers and the driver who were pinned in the bus.

It was the worst accident on the parkway since it opened in 1954.

Your Health—

You Need Not Suffer From Motion Sickness

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

You don't have to travel by sea or air to fall victim to the misery of motion sickness.

Although we are famed as a nation on wheels, thousands of American motorists each year find they are sensitive to the motion of an auto.

Motion sickness doesn't have any respect for physical fitness, mental stability, or even age. Even the most experienced traveler, under specific conditions, can become the victim of this universal malady.

Motion sickness doesn't necessarily mean nausea and vomiting, although in many instances it is just that.

Some of the other symptoms include: a sudden feeling of apathy and lethargy. The passenger or driver wants to be left alone; he becomes detached.

Unless something is done promptly to relieve the situation, the victim is apt to become pale, yawn frequently and have an unsteady gait. His hands and feet will be cold and he will experience hot flashes. He will have a craving for fresh air.

Next comes mental depression. He won't be able to stand bright lights and loud noises.

He has no interest in food of any kind. In fact, he isn't interested in much of anything. He'll have a headache and a dry, furry tongue.

Then he experiences gastric distress; giddiness and drowsiness. He loses stability.

Finally, nausea and vomiting may bring some relief.

All this, I think you will agree, can spoil any vacation or holiday trip. But with most of our new motion sickness remedies, you don't have to suffer any such torments.

An Army, Navy and Air Force Motion Sickness Team made a study of the entire situation. They reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association that meclizine (Bonamine) has a longer - lasting preventive action that most other anti-motion sickness remedies.

Maureen O'Hara Story Unfolds in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—The defense in the Confidential libel trial indicated it may call to the stand today a man the magazine involved in a story with actress Maureen O'Hara.

Testimony in the trial which opened two weeks ago resumes today following a week end recess during which Miss O'Hara emphatically denied testimony putting her in Grauman's Chinese Theater at the time the magazine article claimed she was there with a "Latin."

She said she has a stamped passport and 10 witnesses to prove she was in Spain making a movie in the fall of 1953 when the alleged incident took place. She backed up her denial by increasing the ante in her libel suit against the magazine from one million to five million dollars.

Defense Attorney Arthur J. Crowley maintained he could prove Miss O'Hara was in the theater with the "Latin boyfriend."

Michael Mourdant-Smith, Confidential's chief European correspondent, was to wind up his testimony for the defense today, followed by a "mystery man" whom Crowley indicated might be the man Crowley claims was with Miss O'Hara in the ornate Hollywood theater.

Crowley scoffed at Miss O'Hara's claim that she was in Europe at the time. He said James Craig, former assistant manager of the theater who testified Friday he saw Miss O'Hara at Grauman's, said the incident took place in November of 1953. "Therefore there could be a month or two in either direction," Crowley said.

Jet Passengers

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Civil Aeronautics Administration pre-American - made jet passenger planes in services in this country by July 1, 1961.

UNWANTED BOYS LEFT IN CHURCH—Patrolman Louis Stella holds four-month-old boy in New York as the infant's 14-month-old brother looks on. Meanwhile, other officers were seeking the parents, who abandoned the children in a Roman Catholic church. With them was a note, saying, "We can't provide for them," signed, "Mr. and Mrs. F. Rey."

Sarah Churchill's Husband Takes Life

LONDON (UP)—A police investigation into the apparent sleeping pill suicide of Antony Beauchamp, 39-year-old son-in-law of Sir Winston Churchill, turned today to London's smartest society leaders.

Beauchamp (pronounced beetsham), estranged husband of actress Sarah Churchill, was found dead in his luxurious Hyde Park Gardens flat, a telephone dangling near his lifeless hand.

Police and firemen broke into the apartment after they received a telephone call from a former lady-in-waiting to the Queen. They said Beauchamp, a husky, dark-haired society photographer, had died of an overdose of sleeping tablets.

On Top of World

"This must have been an accident," Beauchamp's sister-in-law Mrs. Clive Entwistle insisted. "Antony was shortly going to produce a new film and was on top of the world."

Police based the suicide belief on a report by Lady Jane Vane-Tempest-Stewart, 25, a maid-of-honor at the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II, who said she talked on the telephone with him apparently as he lay dying.

She said Beauchamp telephoned her of his intentions and that she called police emergency number 999 in a frantic plea for help.

"I pleaded with Antony," she told police. "I tried to persuade him not to be foolish. I was frantic. While I talked suddenly the line seemed to go dead."

Police misunderstood her excited and confused pleas and sent a car to her apartment instead. She directed them to Hyde Park Gardens where they broke into Beauchamp's apartment and found him dead.

Beauchamp, whose mother operated an exclusive photographer's studio in Park Lane, was born Antony Entwistle, but changed his name in 1939. He became wealthy in his own right photographing Britain's stage and society beauties. He went to Hollywood where he photographed Marilyn Monroe and nearly became an actor.

He and Sarah Churchill were married in a secret ceremony at Sea Island, Georgia, in 1949, four years after Miss Churchill divorced comedian Victor Oliver. Friends said their marriage has been on the rocks for about two years and that they had not been living together.

Beauchamp admitted to reporters recently that he and Miss Churchill were living apart, but he said that did not mean a divorce was "imminent."

FORT LEE, N.J. (UP) — Elephants never forget but their chauffeurs are less infallible. Five men arrested early today while driving elephants over the George Washington Bridge, had somehow forgotten to obtain drivers licenses.

Luminous Dial Called Worse Than Fallout

WASHINGTON (UP)—Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission has told Congress there is greater radiation danger in a luminous dial wristwatch than from all atomic test fallout to date.

Taking a swing at critics of nuclear tests, he said that "a campaign—if one is inclined to campaign — against luminous wristwatches would be more beneficial to humanity than a campaign against the tests".

Strauss, whose testimony July 10 before a House appropriations committee was released Sunday night, also said:

—Russia is not "anywhere near the position that we are in the development of atomic energy." If Soviet power approached that of the United States, he said, "they would demonstrate it for the propaganda benefit."

—The Russians demonstrated a reactor at Geneva in 1955 which, "compared with what we had then on the (atomic submarine) Nautilus, was a model T Ford by comparison."

—U.S. scientists have developed "protypes of weapons in which the radioactive fallout is reduced as against previous weapons by as much as 96 per cent." In four or five years "it should be possible to clean up weapons of radioactive fallout completely."

Ingrid Bergman Bids Goodbye To Daughter

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (UP) — Ingrid Bergman said a sad goodbye Sunday night to her daughter, Jenny Ann Lindstrom and ended their first reunion in six years.

Jenny Ann, 18, flew to Stockholm to rejoin her father, Dr. Peter Lindstrom, barely 45 minutes after she and her actress-mother arrived here from Rome.

Miss Bergman planned to stay for two or three days with her aunt, Mrs. Vita Ell. Jenny was en route to the United States where she is a student at the University of Colorado.

Ingrid refused to answer questions at the airport and said only she would be visiting her aunt. She agreed to pose for photographers, though sadness was written on her face.

Before leaving Rome Sunday Jenny laughed off rumors of a romance with Franco Rossellini, nephew of Miss Bergman's husband. The Swedish actress earlier had angrily denied the reports as ridiculous.

"It was a wonderful vacation and I am sorry it is all over," Jenny said before leaving.

Steel Buyers Are Having Field Day

CLEVELAND (UP)—Steel buyers are now blessed with the most favorable market conditions in a decade and a half, Steel Magazine said today.

The weekly publication said that buyers for the first time in 16 years can find practically all forms of steel readily available on the market. The customer can also specify the form and shape of steel he wants, and is assured of obtaining shipment within a reasonable delivery time, the metalworking weekly added. Conditions are expected to remain stable for at least the remainder of the year.

Steel said the increasing availability of materials results from increased capacity and production, not by lowered consumption.

However, mill operations continued spotty while advancing during the week ended Aug. 18 to a national average of 80.5 per cent of rated capacity. The jump represented a 5.5 per cent increase in mill activity of the previous week.

Steel predicted that prices will remain stable, and that no buyer should have to pay premiums over the established mill or warehouse prices.

A strengthening in demand for fourth quarter delivery is expected by many buyers, based on a report by the steel committee of the National Association of Purchasing Agents.

Largest increase is expected in demand for hot rolled sheets at mills, with next greatest demand in cold rolled sheets. Also listed among the most - wanted future items were plates and heavy structurals and tubular goods for consumers in oil producing countries.

In relation to last year's total, Steel said, 1957 "is surprising many people with its show of strength" in industrial production.

The magazine's industrial production index was reported at 156 per cent over the average during base period of 1947-1949, or an increase of 22 points over the corresponding period in 1956.
